

ABSTRACT

An isothermal imprinting method is described. A resist film may be imprinted with a stamper at a temperature at least that of the transition temperature of the resist film. The stamper may then be separated from the resist film prior to cooling.